Q29 What was the most valuable workshop/webinar you have ever attended and why?

Answered: 41 Skipped: 110

#	Responses	Date
1	Those that engage--there may be speakers, but there is also time to create and explore in small group discussions. Also learning new concepts.	2/17/2016 4:55 PM
2	book repair	2/11/2016 4:17 PM
3	The workshop I learned the most at was Tomas Lipinski's copyright training course a couple years ago. I found it a great refresher and opportunity to clarify some points of copyright for libraries. It was also an opportunity for me to meet a leader in the field who I had formerly studies with online in a face-to-face setting. The instructor's delivery was also very smooth and engaging. The webinar I recently found most helpful was the Practical Assessment series because it helped me to more clearly formulate assessment plans that were helpful in my job search.	2/8/2016 12:27 PM
4	Recently the one on Data and actually using it to promote the library - this is a current hot topic and really a way for libraries to keep current and viable in public opinion	2/4/2016 2:03 PM
5	Long Island Libraries and Pop Culture Conference because it helped me with ideas for my first Summer Reading Program.	2/4/2016 1:48 PM
6	Most workshops I attended were not SCRLC workshops, so I answered the question above as 1-6. I did get a forward from SCRLC about the oral histories workshop and that session was informative. It gave me the information I needed to start thinking about a project here. Thanks for passing the word about it.	2/4/2016 11:14 AM
7	Fred Pryor-- 1 day workshop Security begins at the front desk.... paraphrased- excellent presentation and information. including diffusing angry peeps- actions needed for a variety of emergency situations...	2/4/2016 10:07 AM
8	Generally any workshops addressing inter-library loan and student training were always valuable as these were primary tasks for me. Keeping up with the changing technologies (ILL) and new ideas for "creating" better student workers can never get old.	2/3/2016 6:27 PM
9	One that I really got a lot out of was a three-day intensive webinar series on RDA cataloging. There was homework, it was intense, but I got a lot out of it.	2/3/2016 5:42 PM
10	Avoiding Teen services burnout, held at Tompkins County Library with Stephanie Squicharrino of Fairport Library (?) near Rochester. Excellent knowlege of topic, exactly what I needed at the time, took time to talk to me personally, nice variety of activities & ways to learn. Great info.	2/3/2016 3:59 PM
11	Library related- it was 4CLS trustee training, attended with SPL board members. Not offered in driving distance for a long time (current board probably wouldn't go). Lifelong - Tall Timbers Research Center - tour and a day spent practicing backfires and other nature center management tools. In both cases, because the activities started locally focused reapplication of the tools/techniques/knowledge shared	2/3/2016 1:56 PM
12	Library Journal's Lead the Change: Makerspace class in June 2015: great information in getting into the Maker movement and bringing the maker culture into the library, even on a budget and in small spaces.	2/3/2016 12:03 PM
13	Fayetteville, NY Public Library Maker's Space Workshop. I am a big proponento f maker's Spaces for kids to enhance literacy and STEAM.	2/3/2016 11:12 AM

18	Time management because its principles can be applied to all parts of my life.	2/2/2016 8:06 PM

SCRLC Educational Services Survey, 2016

19	Early Literacy/Mother Goose On The Loose. I have used these methods almost weekly in my storytelling.	2/2/2016 4:53 PM
20	Project management because it gave practical advise, offered follow up and allowed me to network with other first time project managers.	2/2/2016 4:49 PM
21	Intellectual Freedom in the public library- I was sadly uneducated about the issue and legal ramifications of our policies/lack thereof....	2/2/2016 4:10 PM
22	Web design because it gave me lots of ideas.	2/2/2016 2:43 PM
23	I really enjoyed a recent workshop with Abby Stokes. I feel she has a strong, common sense approach to teaching technology to those who are intimidated by technology. She also does a nice job of avoiding jargon.	2/2/2016 2:30 PM
24	Customer service. Ways to engage patrons. Weeding collection. To make us ADA compliant we need to weed a fairly large portion of the collection.	2/2/2016 2:24 PM
25	Using Wordpress for websites	2/2/2016 1:54 PM
26	I really enjoyed a New Librarianship MOOC at SJSU with R. David Lankes, it influenced me to get my MLIS.	2/2/2016 1:54 PM
27	Maker Space workshops - excited staff - great ideas - jump started our own Maker Space.	2/2/2016 1:33 PM
28	I don't have a most valuable workshop - generally if I am interested enough to sign up, I come away with something useful.	2/2/2016 1:25 PM
29	Acrl framework. Well done. Informative.	2/2/2016 1:09 PM
30	I'm enrolled in the D4L program & am enjoying it.	2/2/2016 12:08 PM
31	Repairing/mending books, hosted by Kapco. Not only did I learn a lot about repairing books, participants continue to receive a discount on products from Kapco	2/2/2016 11:40 AM
32	Jim Honan - Library Impact	2/2/2016 11:29 AM
33	a presentation about Banned Books Week Read-Out that a library hosted, because it inspired me to start a similar annual event at our library	2/2/2016 10:58 AM
34	Some time back I think I took a workshop on mash-ups and it was very interesting to me.	2/2/2016 10:56 AM
35	Disaster management at SCRLC--hands on. This allowed me to draft our disaster plan.	2/2/2016 10:52 AM
36	Not sure. Tend to come away from non-library workshops/lectures with more ideas	2/2/2016 10:45 AM
37	ACRL/Harvard leadership- incredibly talented faculty	2/2/2016 10:44 AM
38	Integrated Pest Management - was a topic I knew nothing about, and left knowing a lot about and was able to apply.	2/2/2016 10:40 AM
39	When I used to do children's programming, I would attend the BER What's New in Children's Literature every year for the invaluable programming ideas I would take away from it.	2/2/2016 10:40 AM
40	The ACRL Framework workshop held last fall in Rochester, because the Framework is a huge change in how we view & teach information literacy, and it was hard for me to make the conceptual shift without some help.	2/2/2016 10:35 AM
