Notes

- UNYOC 2018: mixed feelings on conference. All agreed networking was great. Some of the presenters were not as good as in previous years. Next year it will be held in Watkins Glen. UNYOC is slowly unveiling a new website, and a survey has been sent out in regard to that, as well as the conference. Please provide them with feedback if you have a chance.
- HLSP 2018 Program Update:
 - The second monthly newsletter for HLSP was released this morning. We want to hear of projects that you may be doing that we can highlight in future issues of the newsletter. You may email Molly directly at mbrown@scrlc.org.
 - A new HLSP LibGuide is finished and is now available on the SCRLC website. If you have any additions or edits please send to Molly to add/delete.
- Electronic Resources:
 - OVID journals: committee agreed to drop the American Journal of Respiratory and Critical Care Medicine and add the Journal of Urology.
 - NEJM: all fine with slight cost increase (both OVID and NEJM costs can be offset with some MISP money), so we will renew the subscription asap.
 - TDNet/Open Athens and OVID Discovery: OVID runs TDNet on their platform, so it really isn't a bonus to combine the two, especially since we have so few members using TDNet right now (Molly is working on training and increasing usage for small member libraries). We will keep TDNet/Open Athens without adding the layer of OVID Discovery.
 - Stat!Ref: Molly will set up a date and time to work with Cathy on how they can more effectively use this resource and how to integrate it into their intranet.

- DOCLINE 6.0: everyone has been able to get into the new version and all like the layout much better.
- Grants to Individual Libraries:
 - We only have two member libraries that have outstanding dues due to us. Once we receive them, they will be sent their grant checks.
- 2019-2020 Goals:
 - Create a user survey for member hospitals that do not have librarians.
 - Create an over-arching marketing plan for HLSP to assist those who are interested in outreach/marketing/continuing education for their institutions. Molly will begin researching this, but is open to input from all. We have found many of the hospitals are looking for this type of information. Will add to LibGuide as well.
- Around the Table:
 - Molly: David Lester is retiring from Arnot. We will miss him greatly. In his own words, he wished to express this: my contribution for tomorrow's "Around the Table" is THANK YOU dear friends, bye-bye, and warm best wishes to you all! May we meet again.
 - Mary-Carol: On Friday, November 30th in Corning, SCRLC will be hosting "Bystander Intervention & Implicit Bias Training" followed by an All-Committee Meeting. We hope as many of you can join us as possible for this exciting workshop. As committee members, registration is free (<https://scrlc.org/events/view/6034>). If the website does not allow you to register, please call the office and we will sign you up.
 - Laura: Bassett is adding the Nursing eBook Package through EBSCO for very little cost and they are thrilled about this. They have also been working with the nurse educators on books regarding drug resources for nurses. They are also licensing Davis's Drug Guide for Nurses.
 - Jean: Lourdes has also purchased eBooks through EBSCO and they now have Nursing Reference Center Plus.
 - Neyda: they have their second cohort of pharmacy school students. The nursing program is still going, but due to budget cuts, it has slowed down slightly. They are also adding Access Medicine to their resources, after getting a good price on it.
 - Cathy: They get Access Medicine through Upstate and their residents love it. Their Nurses used CINAHL but they found the ultimate usage very low. Their supervisor has left and they are down to herself and two other staff members, thus it is a very busy month.
